Session 2:	February 18, 2017	6:30pm-9:00pm Beginning with the End in Mind

Parenting is more challenging than ever in today's world. With the internet flooding our minds with the latest fads and fears of parenting, what can we really hold on to as parents? John & Cindy King bring a wealth of real-world solutions to parenting from a Christian perspective. Through raising nine children of their own, they offer timely advice and counsel about how to parent children in a healthy way. They bring decades of combined experience in parenting, in professional counseling, in education, and in pastoral ministry for children, teens, and families.

John & Cindy currently reside in Mechanicsburg, PA with their nine children, aged 21 down to 3 ½. John serves as Associate Pastor at Mechanicsburg Brethren in Christ Church and Adjunct Professor of Psychology and Graduate Counseling at Messiah College. He is also a former youth and worship pastor at Line Lexington Mennonite Church. Cindy is a stay-at-home mom and former educator at Penn View Christian School in Souderton. They are strong advocates for orphan care and have grown their family through foster care and adoption. John and Cindy are co-directors of Victorious Hope Adoption Consulting, and their family regularly tours Central and Southeastern PA with their band, The King's Strings.
